

Hungarian Dance #5

Classics for Kids

Johannes Brahms
 Born: May 7, 1833
 Died: April 3, 1897

Johannes Brahms was a German composer. He learned music from his father, who played the double bass. When Brahms was young, he played the piano at inns and dance halls to pay for his music lessons and to help support his family.

As a composer, Brahms followed in the footsteps of Beethoven—although for a long time he didn't want to write a symphony because he was afraid his work would not be as good as Beethoven's.

When Johannes was older, he toured as an accompanist, playing piano for a Hungarian violinist. That music—and the gypsy bands Brahms heard later on when he traveled to Hungary—inspired his Hungarian dances, which were a hit with the public. He wrote 21 dances, the most famous of which is the "Hungarian Dance No. 5."

Brahms did end up writing four symphonies, plus works in every musical style except opera. You may know another one of his most famous pieces, the Lullaby.

In fact, Brahms became so famous, he is now known as one of the 3 B's—Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms—of classical music.
